We hope you are doing well. The Senate had 2 meetings this past week, and we have some important updates from it to share with you all.

Academic Senate voted to extend ability to change grading option until Week 11

- until Friday of finals week
- Last Saturday, student-led movement to make final exams more lenient/accommodating, met with vice-chancellor and ABP of academic affairs
- meeting was zoom-bombed, including black student union in upcoming meetings, ABP of academic affairs moving three proposals (universal pass option, P/NP retroactively, grade freeze after May 26)

AS President collaborating with Black Student Union

- President Giangtran is working with the Black Student Union to help encourage professors to practice compassion during this time and encouraging more leniency during finals week.
- Planning on working with the admin from the return to learn program to expand it to students who are participating in the protest happening right now to show ucsd solidarity to this situation.
- professors usually respond to students that they "don't have the power," however professors actually tons of rights can do whatever they want, as outlined in letter from academic Senate
(<http://senate.ucsd.edu/current-affairs/news-announcements/support-for-students-during-finals>)

ZoomBombing Incident

- Found the person's internet address, perpetrators not from UCSD, website for links
- Three steps that caused incident
 - The meeting was unintentionally shared on social media
 - The meeting was not restricted to authenticated users
 - The host's personal meeting ID was used, allowing the bombers to remain in the meeting.
 - Outcome: Based on the data we have, the responsible parties were not members of the UCSD community and all connections were made from within the Middle East.
- The FBI was brought in on the investigation
- Response
 - ITS: determines identity of responsible parties
 - Community response: equity, diversity, inclusion (EDI); student affairs, OPHD
 - Violence: ITS shares reports with UCPD and FBI
- Prevention

- Closed meetings: known communities, only authenticated users, don't use personal meeting ID
- Open meetings: public access, use password, waiting room, again don't use personal meeting ID
- What to do
 - Meeting owner should block and remove offending user
 - Save chat transcript and start recording, note names
- Report to "zombombing@ucsd.edu," attach chat transcript/recording, meeting ID and time; can also go advanced settings -> usage, for reports

Movement to abolish UCPD

- Students organized petition regarding abolishment of UCPD; UCSC cola strikes (300K for UCPD was used) , UCLA incident; names will be published if signed
